Humber's Police Foundations diploma program, offered on a full-time and online part-time basis, enjoys an excellent reputation with employers.

Our program's curriculum, developed with the insights and expertise of members of the college's Police Foundations Advisory Committee, is designed to prepare you for a career in the justice system.

Your professors, who have work experience in the justice, policing, public safety and community service sector, will help you gain the skills and knowledge you need to succeed.

Graduates of the program will be subject to all requirements of the Ontario Constable Selection Process and local police requirements. The program is designed to meet the needs of the justice system.

While the program does not offer a field experience, self-initiated community engagement opportunities will be made available to help you gain practical experience.

The Police Foundations program is also offered part time.
